Shine

Written by Tweed Banister

Every day is another chance
Turn things around
Make your advance
Discard the shit
Stake your claim
Rise above and stop that train
It's in the water, the air that you breathe
It's in everything that you need
It's not a color like blue of red
It's in the magic in your head

Ain't waiting
I ain't waiting
It's my time to shine
Ain't waiting
I ain't waiting
It's my time to fly

Life moves in mysterious ways
A single event, your whole life change
Reach down deep in your soul
Stare in your eyes
The one that you don't want to know
Cowboy up and move ahead
Take action, don't be scared
It's in the wheelhouse of your dreams
It's in the essence of all that you believe

Ain't waiting
I ain't waiting
It's my time to shine
Ain't waiting
I ain't waiting
It's my time to fly

High above the mountains
Lower than the sea
Inside of everything
It's the power when you believe

It's in the good of the life that we lead
It's in the virus of the world deceive
It's in the wind blowing through the trees
It's in the fluid when you conceive
Reach up and grab ahold
The one ring that your life unfold
It's in your head, it's in your soul
It's in your heart, that much I know

Ain't waiting
I ain't waiting
It's my time to shine
Ain't waiting
I ain't waiting
It's my time to fly

It's my time, it's my time to shine
It's my time, it's my time to fly
It's my time, it's my time to shine
It's my time, it's my time to fly
It's my time, I gotta shine tonight
I gotta shine, I gotta shine tonight
And know I'm gonna feel alright
I'm gonna shine tonight
I gotta shine, I'm gonna shine shine shine
Ooooh

Don't Let the Old Man In

Written by David N. Straight

Sitting on a plane to Pennsylvania
After 3 months in paradise Contemplating life's journey and where all the time went
Looking ahead feels like rolling the dice

Melancholy as I sip on my beer
How many good years are left, I obsess
The guy next to me he leans over and says
You look troubled, it was that obvious

I said I worry what's next, I ain't getting younger
I don't know where to begin
So he offered this advice with a knowing grin
Don't let don't let the old man in

Don't let him in Don't let him in
Don't let the old man in
Because once he gets in you can't get rid of him
Don't let don't let the old man in

Sparks flying in my brain
Neurons off the charts
A revelation bubbling like fine Champagne
From my head to my private parts

Your very best days lie ahead, he explained
Cutting loose is not a sin
Have some fun my man because you still can, just

Don't let don't let the old man in
Don't let him in Don't let him in
Don't let the old man in
Because once he gets in you can't get
rid of him
Don't let don't let the old man in

I can't wait till tomorrow
Cause I get better everyday
Don't look back, don't look back, don't look back
Find yourself another prey

Don't let don't let the old man in
Don't let him in Don't let him in
Don't let the old man in
Because once he gets in you can't get
rid of him
Don't let don't let the old man in

I got my mind right
I got my mind right
I got my mind on right

Put on your dancing shoes
Put on your dancing shoes
Slip on those fancy dancing shoes

We are the show tonight
We're gonna trip the light
Fantastic...Bombastic...

I can hang I can hang
I can hang I can hang
Let's do a shot...why not

Don't let him in
Don't let him in
Don't let the old man in

Don't let him in, you ain't getting in Never

Phobia

Written by Tweed Banister

She has a phobia
It's dancing in the shadows and won't go away
She sits still, she wants to hide
But the moment she tries the anxiety climbs
The tremors come, she starts to cry

And if she lets me in, I promise not to sin
And burn her whole world down
If she lets me in, I promise not to sin
And burn her whole world down

She has philophobia
She does everything she can to avoid people like me
I reach out to her romantically
But she says no and points the way
Says I must leave, I cannot stay

And if she lets me in, I promise not to sin
And burn her whole world down
If she lets me in, I promise not to sin
And burn her whole world down

She has pyrophobia
An overwhelming fear of fire that can happen anywhere
I reach out to her hypnotically
She close her eyes and starts to fly
The fires come and will not subside

And if she lets me in, I promise not to sin
And burn her whole world down
If she lets me in, I promise not to sin
And burn her whole world down

If she lets me in, I will try not to sin
And burn her whole world down
If she lets me in, I will try not to sin
And burn her to the ground

Burn her whole world down
Turn it upside down
Burn her whole world down
Burn it to the ground

Disturb Me

Written by Sally Cooper

I cannot look away
I have been captive all damn day
I don't even know how to turn it off
I'm stuck and I'm trapped
And I could use some help
I'm gonna have to give a think

Maybe it is true that this thing knows
me
And it's been listening in
Does it know what I told last night to
Bob?
A coupon list of all my sins

Maybe, I should give it up
Find another island way way farther out
Truly I'd be gone, completely out of sight
Disappearing, nowhere man
That sounds kind of right
It could be that's the life for me

Maybe I could live in a hut in a tree
Eat lots of coconuts for free
Climb around from time to time
And look at all the people from my nest
on high

Disturb me

One item after another
Just keeps scrolling bye
Sitting here like a zombie
Inside the universal mind
Disturb me

I swear my mind is in a box
All the stuff that's bad for me
It's all on radar lock
I touch it, and I swipe it
It all goes round and round
Cylinders revolving on approving ground
I have to get away

Maybe it is true that this thing knows
me
And it's been listening in
Does it know what I told last night to
Bob?
A coupon list of all my sins

Maybe I could live in a hut in a tree
Eat lots of coconuts for free
Climb around from time to time
And look at all the people from my nest
on high

I cannot look away
I cannot look away
I cannot look away
I cannot look away

Elizabeth

Written by Tweed Banister

In the golden age of movies, she was the queen
Already a legend by the time she was seventeen
Raven hair and violet eyes
A heart so big it could fill the sky
Look at you, you're beautiful, Elizabeth
I dig you

You played yourself in every movie you made
Like the beautiful whore in Butterfield Eight
As you changed, so did your roles
You weren't afraid of growing old
Raven hair and violet eyes
A heart so big it could fill the sky
Look at you, you're beautiful, Elizabeth

I dig you
Up from the grave
And I 've got to touch you
Make no mistake
And I am gonna love you
And bring you to life
I'm going to love you
Take you home to be my wife

Your billion-dollar Diamond perfumes
I want your scent in my every room
And I don't care that your technically gone
The love we share can never be wrong
Raven hair and violet eyes
A heart so big it can fill the sky
Look at you, you're beautiful, Elizabeth

I dig you, Elizabeth
I want you, Elizabeth
I love you, Elizabeth

Chilled to the Bone

Written by David N. Straight

Another day in this God forsaken place
Chilled to the bone Chilled to the bone
This thermal suit barely protects my face
Chilled to the bone Chilled to the bone
It's diabolical really yet I barely make jack
Guarding bodies on racks...
In hope of coming back
Chilled to the bone Chilled to the bone

Millions and millions spent over time
Chilled to the bone Chilled to the bone
To preserve their brains to sustain their minds
Chilled to the bone Chilled to the bone
Awaiting the day when the cures they find
To revive their spirits...
And defy mankind
Chilled to the bone Chilled to the bone

Men of science on ice, celebrities too
Chilled to the bone Chilled to the bone
Baseball legend Ted Williams in freezer # 2
Chilled to the bone Chilled to the bone
The waiting is torture that I painfully endure
But for decades they're the stars...
Of my Cryogenic tour
Chilled to the bone Chilled to the bone

Then the power went off on that fateful day
Generators failed to boot in the usual way
Thawing began to the smell of decay
Till refreezing ensued despite foul play

Thirty years have passed, their foresight was right
Chilled to the bone Chilled to the bone
Let the process begin to the believers' delight
Chilled to the bone Chilled to the bone
But the resurrection took a horrible turn
And the reason it failed...
Freezer burn
Freezer burn
Freezer burn

The Watcher

Written by Tweed Banister

Everywhere you look there another like me
An outcast of family, drugs and disease
When you see me well you try not to look
You don't understand this ain't what I deserve
It's the one thing that I know rings true
That the watcher of the night is always following me

Deep inside the midnight blue
The games they play without any rules
Time is thief taking us on a ride
But we don't care we're just staying alive
It's the one thing that I know rings true
That the watcher of the night is always following me
Yes the watcher of the night is always following me

Lurking in the shadows
Hiding in the trees
Blending in the sky
Always watching me

Inside my world of cruel
It could have been anyone, I wish it was you
Standing on the edge of the night
Cursing the darkness, cursing the light
It's the one thing that I know rings true
That the watcher of the night is always needling me
The watcher of the night is always following me

The watcher of the night
Yes, the watcher of the night
The watcher of the night
Always following me
Always calling me
Always laughing at me
Always needling me

Ma Oh Ma

Written by David N. Straight

So I was visiting my Mom and before I had a chance to say goodbye she jumped in and said...

Did you triple-check son
For all of your things?
Did you have a good time?
Do you have everything?
Take this sandwich with you
To eat on the way
So glad to see you my boy
I wish you could stay

Did you grab your charger?
What about your keys?
Would you like a box of tissues?
What if you sneeze?
Did you re-pack your toothbrush
And your PC?
Did I mention your car keys?
Oh yeah, I see

When will you be back?
We can clean out your drawers
Been bugging you for years
To finish these chores
There's some stuff in your closet
I wish you would take
Let me run down the list
So there'll be no mistake

Stop! I've had enough
I said I have what I want
I said I have what I need
Stop! Please Stop!
I don't need another thing
Oops... I forgot my wedding ring

Ma oh Ma
I have everything I want
Everything I need
Ma oh Ma
Please don't ask me again
See you soon, not sure when

Ma oh Ma
I have everything I want
Everything I need
Ma oh Ma
Please don't ask me again
See you soon, not sure when

Do you need a white shirt?
Do you need this tie?
Do you want a warm hat
Before we say goodbye?
Would you like your dress shoes
And these never-worn socks?
Do you want your wristwatch?
Perhaps a drink on the rocks?

Ma oh Ma
I have everything I want
Ma oh Ma
I'll be back home soon
I love you

Ma, oh Ma
I have everything I want
Everything I need
Ma, oh Ma
Please don't ask me again
See you soon, not sure when

Freedom

Written by Sally Cooper

I want to see what everyone sees
I want to swim like a fish in the sea
I see a bird at the top of the sky
Just riding the wind up high
No boundaries, no fears
Got no sense of time

He brought me back with the look in the eye
One thousand words would not be his style
The smile wasn't even a grin
Just a wink, a pull of the chin
He said, "You ready, lad?
It's time to follow me"

Where?

Freedom
Freedom
Freedom

The moon went down to the ocean to hide
This country road has been dark for a mile
There is a stranger around the bend
Holds a bag like my best friend
Abracadabra, what a surprise

How many years have I been in this state?
Was there anything good or was it all just a waste?
Would the film be better with no second reel?
When the angel showed up, was that a good deal?

He said, "That's too much talk.
Be here now, that's good enough
Just letting go is a move you better learn to make."

Why?

Freedom
Freedom
Freedom

I am the bird at the top of the sky
Just riding the wind up high
No boundaries, no fears
I got no sense of time

Freedom
Freedom
Freedom
